TOWN SQUARE TELEVISION ANNOUNCES ITS 2016 COMMUNITY TELEVISION VOLUNTEER OF THE YEAR

Town Square Television is proud to announce that Rick Sachwitz has received the 2016 Community Television Volunteer of the Year Award. Rick was chosen for this award because of the many hours of time he has dedicated and the talents he brings to helping Town Square Television achieve its mission of providing locally engaging community video content on cable TV and online. With the help of volunteers like Rick, Town Square Television shared more than 1,400 new programs on cable TV and online in 2016. 57% of these shows were produced within our seven-city service area by staff, volunteers and community organizations.

“Rick has volunteered with Town Square Television since 2013. He is always full of laughs and smiles, and it’s a delight to work with him. Rick has also acted in Town Square Television promos and has appeared on our local news magazine program Insight 7. He has helped with a countless number of studio and truck shoots, and we appreciate all the time he has given to us,” says Kimberly Blackford, Producer/Volunteer Coordinator, Town Square Television.

Town Square Television is a non-profit organization producing local community video content for cable TV and online and providing access to video production equipment, studios, training, and cable television channel time for community members who wish to produce their own video programs.
